MR. FRED WILLIAMS

VP, Rocky Mountain Creation Fellowship

“The Hydroplate Theory and its Astounding Confirmed Predictions”

Fred Williams of Real Science Radio presents on why Dr. Walt Brown's Hydroplate Theory is the best explanation for the earth's geographic features. Its astoundingly predictive and explanatory power far exceeds its secular counterpart of plate tectonics and the catastrophic plate tectonic theory endorsed by the larger creation groups.

About Fred Williams: Fred Williams has been giving lectures on creation for over 30 years to churches, schools, conferences, and other organizations. Mr. Williams has a Bachelor of Science in Electrical Engineering from Missouri S&T, and currently works in the high-tech industry as a software engineer for Micron Technology in NAND memory development. He has been the lead engineer and software architect for numerous projects including IBM's Sysplex Timer and Caterpillar's high-precision GPS devices for off-highway vehicles. He is the owner of the popular sports website officepoolstop.com. He is currently the host of the popular Real Science Radio program that airs every Friday at 3:00pm on the 50,000-watt AM 670 KLTT (rsr.org). He long served as the Webmaster for the Creation Research Society, the oldest creation organization in the United States, and is currently the VP of Rocky Mountain Creation Fellowship
